MEMORIAL SERVICE HERE TOMORROW

President to be Extolled From Pulpits in City Churches Mostly Visiting Clergymen.

Although most of the regular pastors in this city are out of town at present time on their vacation so it is impossible to get in touch with them there does not seem to be any doubt but that practically all of the churches in this city will hold memorial services on Sunday for the late President Harding.

The president of the Eastern conference of New York and New Jersey of the Lutheran Church, A. Stenle, has sent communications to all the pastors in that synod asking their attention to the great loss which has befallen the Christian country and the world by the death of the late president, requesting them to hold memorial services on Sunday. In conformity with this request, the pastor of the English Lutheran Church, the Rev. William J. Nelson, will hold a service on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

There will be five visiting preachers in town on Sunday supplying the regular local pulpits. At the Fair Street Reformed Church the Rev. Watson D. D. of Brooklyn, will preach. The congregation of the Reformed Church will unite with the Fair Street Reformed Church. At the Roundout Presbyterian Church the Rev. John F. Brown, pastor of the Canterbury Church of Cornwall, and chaplain of the military school in that place, will supply the pulpit. The Rev. E. H. Burgess of Pittsfield, Mass., will preach at the open air service on the Grove avenue. The Rev. E. N. Hubbard, pastor of the Methodist church at Coxsack, will supply the pulpit of the St. James Methodist church. The Rev. J. J. Henry of Coxsack will preach both forenoon and evening at Trinity Methodist Church.

Coolidge Quietly Takes Over Presidential Duties; Harding-Funeral Train Is Speeding Through Nevada

Body Will Arrive Tuesday—Funeral Services at Washington Wednesday and Interment at Marion Friday—Mrs. Harding Starts Harrowing Week—Silent Crowds Watch Special Pass—Coolidge Active In Arranging for Elaborate Service at Capital.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Calvin Coolidge formally took over the reins of office today in a quiet, unassuming manner. Characteristic of his every action in public life, the new chief executive began the task of "carrying on" for Warren G. Harding.

No real work is to be attempted for a week or more. By choice, Coolidge will permit federal machinery to remain virtually motionless until after the last rites have been performed over his dead and beloved chief.

The first formal act of his new office will materially be in the issuance of a proclamation from his hotel "White House" calling upon the nation to enter into a period of mourning for the dead president.

Thus far, President Coolidge has devoted his every thought to the assurance of a fitting tribute to the passing of Warren G. Harding. From the moment of his arrival last night to the time he retired, and continuing at an early hour this morning, he has labored over arrangements for the funeral ceremony for the late president. With the assistance of Secretary of State Hughes, Senator Charles McNary of Kansas and Colonel Charles O. Sherman, presidential aide, and superintendent of public grounds.

Four weeks ago, a most elaborate and impressive funeral, now speeding east, according to the plans issued from the "temporary White House," will arrive in Washington about 1 p. m. Tuesday, August 7. Met by the new president, members of the cabinet and the supreme court, the body will be escorted to the White House where it will repose until Wednesday morning.

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, accompanied by a military and civic escort, the body will be conveyed to the capital. There in the historic rotunda which has housed the mortal remains of presidents, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, and America's greatest hero, the Unknown Soldier, funeral services will be held over the twenty-third president, and the body will be in state that all may pay tribute.

At 3 p. m. Wednesday, President Harding's remains will be taken on a special train to Marion, Ohio, scene of his birth and the only place he called home. Escorting the body to its last resting place will be, in addition to Mrs. Harding and members of the cabinet, President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft and members of the cabinet led by Secretary Hughes.

The military escort which will conduct the funeral procession from the White House to the capital on Wednesday is to be personally marshaled and led by General Pershing. It will include one squadron of cavalry, a battalion of field artillery, a brigade of infantry, a battalion of marines and a battalion of blue jackets. Funeral dirges will be rendered by the Marine Band and the Army Band.

Service in the rotunda of the capital will be conducted by the Rev. Freeman Anderson, acting pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house of representatives.

At 10 o'clock of Tuesday, the nation's grief and bereavement marked the return of President Coolidge to Washington. Lightning flashing in the Maryland hills, and fatal rain squalls and lightning, the feeling of loss and depression which has pervaded the city since the fatal news from San Francisco.

A more handful of people, hardly a thousand in all, were present to greet the incoming new executive, as he stepped from the special train which brought him from his New England home. There were no cheers, the crowd standing in solemn silence.

Outside the Willard Hotel, the temporary executive mansion, another scene of the strange drama of sorrow was enacted.

A thousand persons stood waiting an hour to see the new president reach his temporary "White House." Suddenly the president and Mrs. Coolidge, escorted by Secret Service men, quietly entered. The crowd never noticed him but continued its vigil while policemen went about explaining the president had already entered the hotel. Ten minutes passed before the crowd was convinced, disbanding as silently as it had formed.

Calvin Coolidge—former vice-president and now president—had "come home."

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Ahead President Harding's funeral train, en route to Washington, Aug. 4.—The caravan of sorrow that is the Harding funeral train, today swept swiftly into Nevada on the first part of the long, sad journey back to Washington. Through the blackness of the night the train roared through towns and country, side making no stops and scarcely slackening speed even for the curves that are frequently met on the Southern Pacific right of way.

Occasionally out of the darkness would loom little knots of people, a fleeting glimpse of those who peered from the windows of the lone train, there for a second and then gone. At times during the night the train attained a speed far above normal travel but when daylight came and the towns and the silent groups of people became more frequent, speed of necessity was slackened.

The crowds that stood at respectful attention at every cross road and hamlet had eyes for one thing—the silent grim looking car on the rear of the train, holding the remains of Warren G. Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Four weeks ago he crossed the continent and daily traversed territory much the same as that through which his funeral train passed today. Four weeks ago there were bands, hurrahs, applause, noise and acclaim everywhere. Today there were the same crowds and the same acclaim, but it was the silent acclamation of reverential and respectful people awed by that which has shocked the nation.

Every heart on the train and in the crowds that came to pay their final respects to the dead president went out to the woman in the rear car who insisted upon staying as near to her husband as possible. The president and Mrs. Harding occupied the car superba on the outward trip across the continent, and Mrs. Harding insisted when the arrangements were made that she be permitted to occupy the same compartment on the return journey.

The adjoining compartment, that of the president's outward journey—was vacant, ten feet further on, in the observation space, rests in simple stateliness the casket on which stands the flag draped casket.

At each of the four corners is a guard of honor. Two soldiers, a blue-jacket and a marine, form the guard, and through the long night they stood guard as the swaying train swept through village and plain toward the capital.

Mrs. Harding is standing her bereavement in a manner that challenges the admiration of all who see her. Only occasionally does her emotion get the better of her. Then she breaks into a fit of weeping.

But it is never for long. By an effort that is plainly visible and hence all the more pathetic she seems to literally eat a chip on her jagged nerves and she says, "I won't break down." It is almost a prayer; the tears stop.

Whether she can retain this truly remarkable hold on her feelings during the arduous week ahead of her is another question. Her health, always precarious in recent years and particularly so since her breakdown last autumn, may give way under the strain. That much is recognized by the doctors, and they are making every effort to avoid it.

It is a cruel week ahead of Mrs. Harding. Four days enroute to Washington, the body of the man whose staunch helpmate she has been for more than three decades, a day of sorrow in Washington, in the White House, another day enroute to Ohio, to old friends and old familiar scenes and finally the homecoming to Marion, where final services and burial will take place on Friday, offer a test of endurance which might well challenge a well person.

Mrs. Harding was utterly exhausted when she boarded the train at San Francisco last night. Hardly had the train left the city's environs when she had retired.

In the remaining compartments in the car superba, which carries the body of the president, are Dr. and Mrs. Sawyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Jennings of Columbus, lifelong friends of the Hardings.

The departure from San Francisco last evening was a sad scene. An entire city gathered in reverent homage.

From airplanes showered flowers, while the funeral cortege moved from the Palace Hotel to the depot. The thousands packed beyond the police lines about the Palace Hotel stood in breathless attention as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

There was a pause, then the hymn that President Harding had loved.

BUILDINGS HIT BY LIGHTNING

Barn Burns at Hurley With Loss—Two Houses Damaged and Girl's Foot Being Off—Saves Her Life.

On the severe electrical storm which passed over this section Friday afternoon, accompanied by unusually brilliant flashes of lightning, several sections of the county buildings were struck and considerable damage done.

At Hurley the newly erected barn on the property of A. J. Harder was struck and burned to the ground. The barn was struck about 3 o'clock in the afternoon while both Mr. and Mrs. Harder were away from home.

When they arrived at home they found the structure in ashes. The loss is estimated at about $5,000.

During the early evening while the family of Nicholas Rowe at West Hurley, were seated at the table eating supper a bolt of lightning struck the house and knocked off a number of chimneys and boards and damaged the chimney. At the time no rain was falling but an exceptionally black cloud was passing overhead.

Neighbors who saw the bolt strike turned to the Rowe house and noticed the occupants none of whom were injured. No fire followed.

The lightning played some pranks with the fire alarm system of the city. On the No. 7 circuit lightning struck a high tension wire of the electric company causing it to fall and break the fire alarm wire. Later the damage was soon repaired. Later a bolt of lightning struck a pole on West Chester street and followed along the wire into the Central Fire Station blowing out a fuse. During the storm the bell in the city hall tower was also caused to ring by a stroke of the lightning but no damage followed.

Lightning also struck the house of Harry Wright at Brown's Station, near Hurley Falls and did considerable damage, although the building was not set afire. The bolt struck the chimney, going down to the lower floor tearing away plaster on the ceiling. The lightning split the plaster on one side and going out of the front door tearing off the door.

The other part went through the room knocking off plaster and landed another room where a mirror was cut out of a frame and pieces knocked off a mantelpiece and then passed out of the house carrying away some of the siding of the house. A five year old girl who was sitting in the room had a fortunate escape from being struck.

Trolley Passengers Marooned All-Over Town Lest Lightning Damage Motors

Trolley service languished during the storm Friday afternoon. According to officials of the Kingston Consolidated Railway Company that company shut off the power on all lines for 25 minutes in order to protect equipment from lightning. Cars were halted wherever they happened to be and remained there until the current was turned on again.

CHURCH BUYS NEW PARSONAGE

123 Clinton Avenue, Modern Residence, Acquired For Clinton Avenue M. E. Pastor.

The committee named by the official board of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church with power to purchase a new parsonage to replace the present one which is to be used in connection with the new hall the church will build, has bought the former Aschmoody property across Clinton avenue from the church, at No. 123, Mrs. Fowler, formerly of Fleischmanns, was the owner. The Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, the pastor, and his family, will take possession October 1, when the present parsonage will be turned over to Sunday school and recreational uses until the new hall is completed, which is expected to be before winter sets in.

The new parsonage is a modern 10-room frame residence, with two baths and all other improvements. Thirty thousand dollars are being spent by the church on the erection of the hall and the purchase of the parsonage.

The W. I. Addis Company of which Mr. Forman was president and Mr. Addis vice-president was taken over by the Belmont Stores, Inc., of New York city.

HOWARD TO PROBE BRIBERY CHARGES

Investigation of charges that examiners in the state motor vehicle bureau accepted bribes to pass applicants for automobile licenses, was promised Friday, says the New York Times, by Robert J. Howard, recently appointed director of the department, whose first move was the suspension of Nicholas Nivello, an examiner, on Wednesday. "I have the utmost confidence in the men in our employ," said Director Howard, "but in view of rumors I deem it necessary to make a complete investigation. The only specific charge has been made by Warren L. Marks, aged 24, son of Marcus M. Marks, former president of the borough of Manhattan, who said he paid $5, and while his complaint did not point directly to Nivello, but rather to two other examiners. I deemed it best to suspend the examiner. Other rumors, however, make this investigation necessary. We are making it for the preservation of life in New York."

MAY CLOSE MOVIE HOUSES FOR HARDING FUNERAL

New York, Aug. 4.—A movement was under way today to close theatres and motion picture houses throughout the country the day of President Harding's funeral. Three of New York's biggest theatres were dark last night as a mark of respect to the dead president.

Augustus Thomas, head of New York's theatrical producers, and Will H. Hays, dictator of the movies, are taking steps to induce owners to remain closed the day of the funeral. E. F. Albee, of the Keith circuit announced all its vaudeville houses would close.

SAY PAPERS PUT LENINE AND OTHERS IN BAD LIGHT.

Riga, Aug. 4.—Reports that documents stolen from the Soviet archives at Moscow compromise Lenin and Trotsky were current today. The documents charge, it is alleged, that the Soviet chiefs acted as German agents, advising Germany of contemplated acts of the provisional government.

Found Murdered.

New York, Aug. 4.—A man believed by the police to be Francis F. McElroy, 11 Johnson street, Brooklyn, was found shot to death on a waterfront pier here today. Automobile tracks nearby indicated the man, whose pockets had been turned inside out, had been carried to the pier after he was shot. The man was shot in the back.

Lloyd George May Not Come.

London, Aug. 4.—Former Premier David Lloyd George may not visit the United States this year, it was learned today. It was stated today that the European political situation is so delicate that the former premier is not making any preparations to cross the Atlantic, although he has often expressed the wish to visit both United States and Canada.

C. W. MORSE IS ACQUITTED

Washington, Aug. 4.—Charles W. Morse, the New York capitalist, was acquitted here today by a federal jury on a number of counts charging him with having conspired to defraud the United States government during the war.

Two Traffic Violators.

James Gilligan of Woodhaven, arrested by Officer Farum Friday on a charge of speeding 31 miles an hour, forfeited $15 cash bail for failure to appear in police court this morning. A hearing in the case of Louis Clapp of Walden, arrested Friday by Officer Binkley on a charge of parking his car in front of a fire hydrant was adjourned to August 7.

Poland Sends Condolences.

Warsaw, Aug. 4.—All Polish newspapers, irrespective of political opinion, printed editorials today deploring the death of President Harding. Poland's condolences have been sent to Washington officially through the American legation.

DAUGHERTY TO LEAVE CABINET

All Members Resign to President Coolidge But He Indicates He Will Retain Them—Daugherty's Ill Health Causes Wish to Retire.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The resignations of all members of the Harding cabinet were in the hands of President Coolidge today as the former president's advisers followed the traditional custom of outgoing administrations.

President Coolidge, however, has announced he will ask each cabinet member to remain, although he has not yet taken formal action.

The continuation of Attorney General Daugherty in the cabinet is problematical. His friends declare the attorney general is desirous of retiring from active political life because of illness and it is known he sought only time to resign but was dissuaded from it by President Harding, his close personal friend, to continue in office.

Other members of the cabinet, if asked by President Coolidge, doubtless will remain.

Two Fined For Bathing In Reservoir And Told To Keep Off Premises A Year

Recently two city boys boarding at Ashokan were caught bathing in Ashokan Reservoir. They were taken before Justice Lincoln Smith at Ashokan and fined $5 each and forbidden to enter the reservoir property for one year. It is hoped that this action will have a good effect on any who may contemplate bathing in water supply reservoirs.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MIDGIE MOONBEAM

Billie Brownie had taken his airship and had gone up to have a talk with Midgie Moonbeam.

"He Sat on the Edge."

Midgie Moonbeam loved to hear stories and she loved to tell stories and Billie Brownie liked to hear the news of Moonair as she liked to hear the news of Brownie-land.

"Now I have told you lots of the Brownie-land news," said Billie Brownie, as he sat on the edge of Mr. Moon's crescent shape which turned up somewhat so that Billie felt safer than he would otherwise have felt.

"Yes, and I would be glad to hear the news of Moonair. I think that is more correct than saying Moonland."

"But tell me, Midgie, is there never any danger of falling down to the earth?"

"None whatever, Billie Brownie," said Midgie Moonbeam. "There is never any question about the moon falling to the earth, and he wouldn't treat his visitors any differently from the way he treats himself."

"That wouldn't be polite at all, and Mr. Moon is very polite."

"You need have no fears, Billie Brownie. Tonight, as you see, there is a great deal of beauty in the sky. That is because we are all going to have a banquet later on."

"You must stay for the banquet, too."

Billie Brownie was very much pleased. He could imagine nothing nicer than a banquet up in the moon. Even if he didn't get anything to eat it would be fun to see all the guests.

"From down below," said Midgie Moon, "it looks as though Mr. Moon in his crescent suit was floating in lovely fashion upon a pool of deep-blue sky water. This looks as though it were surrounded by very dark sky-shores and as though there were hills and shores and water up in Moonair tonight."

"Mr. Moon is looking very, very bright and shining. He has had his suit pressed and cleaned by the air tailors, Mooncloud & Co."

"Then the little Fleecy Cloud Fairies have come out and are dancing around making ready to come later on to the banquet."

"The other evening," Midgie Moonbeam continued, "we had such fun here."

"Mr. Moon had been asked to look at the new frocks of the Blue Cloud and the Gray Cloud young ladies. So Mr. Moon said the best way for him to do that would be to have the young Cloud ladies walk up and down in front of him so he could see them properly."

"They had no idea what was happening down on the earth and they said:

"See the blue and gray clouds going back and forth over the moon?" "Wasn't that a joke? And dear me, dear me," said Midgie Moonbeam, "another very funny thing happened!"

"Some one asked a little boy named Eugene if he didn't think the moon was perfectly beautiful that evening and he said:

"Oh, yes, it's a delicious-looking moon!"

"Mr. Moon did laugh when I told him that. It made him seem as though he were a piece of pie or something like that!"

"But now it is time for the banquet. Come along!"

Billie Brownie followed Midgie Moonbeam. They climbed up a little ladder which was held by many of the Moonbeam grandchildren while Billie and Midgie went up it.

When they reached the top they were right in the center of Mr. Moon's dining room.

He had a big dining-room table set with all kinds of strange dishes. It was covered with a beautiful fleecy cloud tablecloth.

"They Climbed Up."

He welcomed Billie Brownie and Midgie Moonbeam, and then the other guests began to arrive. Many of the Clouds and Moonbeams were present and it was a very fine gathering.

And food? They had the most delicious of Moonair food, made by the Moonbeams. It was all cool food—quite lovely for a summer evening, and the midnight frosty ice cream was the best of all!

He Knew Too Well.

"Jones strikes me as a very promising young man."

"He strikes me that way, too; but he never pays it back."

SUMMER DISHES

Planning menus for hot weather and trying to tempt the jaded appetites of some members of the family is the present work of the housewife.

Cooling foods such as succulent vegetable and refreshing fruits, crisp salads and icy desserts are the appropriate foods for the hot weather. Nothing so appeals to the appetite on a sultry morning like a dish of luscious berries or a chilled and flavorful muskmelon. Pineapple, too, is always a favored fruit, is good for digestion and makes a delicious combination with other fruits which lack its zest.

The housemother must consider herself, too, in the planning of hot weather food for the work should be made as simple as possible, having the cooking done early, or the day before.

The trouble with most hostesses who have no maids is that they try to prepare too elaborate menus. The average guest will enjoy a simple meal much better than one which has cost his hostess hours in the hot kitchen. A hot, tired hostess will take the edge off enjoyment from the whole family.

For the already overburdened housewife who has watched the approach of a flock of unexpected company, a few easy-to-prepare dishes will be boon.

A thrifty woman who is subject to week-end avalanches of company should always have a jar of mayonnaise ready in the ice box, a bottle of olives, and such foods as are commonly canned, a box of cookies, and a fresh pie or two with a cake which will keep for a week, if concealed.

Tomato, Cucumber and Onion Salad.—Prepare tomato cups. Fill with chopped cucumber and onion, using three parts cucumber to one of onion. A bit of celery improves the combination. Mix with salad dressing. Brush the inside of the drained tomato cup with salad dressing and fill with the mixture. Serve very cold on lettuce.

I s'pose they blow their noses on a leaf."

FOOD POISONING IS EXPLAINED

On Radio by Dr. Nicoll, Jr.—Most Common Type of Poisoning Caused by Intestinal Organisms Not Killed in Cooking.

The prevention of food poisoning was discussed Friday night by Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., in the weekly radio talk of the New York State Department of Health.

"Food poisoning," said Dr. Nicoll, "though comparatively rare, is often serious and sometimes fatal. It is therefore well for us to understand under what circumstances it occurs and thus be in a position to avoid it."

"There are a number of ways by which food poisoning may take place: Through eating by mistake vegetable material containing active poisons, such as poisonous mushrooms or the leaves of the rhubarb plant which contain oxalic acid in dangerous amounts; by eating insufficiently cooked meats containing animal parasites, such as trichinae or tape-worms; by eating foods which have become infected with organisms causing dysentery; or through eating improperly preserved foods in which the organism of botulism has grown. Still another form of poisoning occurs in persons who are sensitive to some particular food or foods, such as strawberries, eggs, lobsters or other shellfish. Of course, active mineral poisons, such as arsenic or lead may occasionally get into foods by accident or criminal intent, but this takes place so seldom that it is not worth considering at this time."

"Poisoning by mushrooms or toadstools usually is the result of these fungi being gathered in the field by persons who are insufficiently informed as to the points of difference between the edible mushrooms and the poisonous varieties. Mushrooms grown for the market are ordinarily safe. A good rule to follow is to eat only those varieties of plants or animals known to be wholesome as food."

"Infection with animal parasites such as trichinae, which cause trichinosis in the human, can be avoided by taking care that meat, particularly pork, is always thoroughly cooked. Trichinosis often results from the eating of bologna or similar meat products which have been only partially cooked."

"By far the most common type of food poisoning occurs as a result of eating food infected with one of the more common intestinal organisms. This infection may take place through the use of insufficiently cooked meat from an infected animal, or it may come from the infection of food through careless handling. Rats and mice are common carriers of these germs and will often infect food if they come in contact with it. Persons infected with these germs have nausea, cramps, fever with other signs of intense intestinal trouble. Such cases are popularly, but improperly called, ptomaine poisoning. Authorities are agreed that poisoning of this kind is caused by the actual infection of food by the intestinal organisms and not by the organisms of decay. Prevention lies in buying food only from clean stores and taking care that food is kept and handled in a clean manner and protected from rats and mice."

"Poisoning sometimes occurs as the result of eating improperly preserved foods. The symptom in such cases are not the same as in the kind of food infection just described. Fever is absent and there are no intestinal symptoms, but instead the nervous system is affected and paralysis often occurs. This form of food poisoning known as botulism is usually very severe and often results fatally. Food so infected usually has no special taste or odor to serve as a warning. The trouble is more likely to arise with home preserved foods, especially vegetables. Thorough cooking for one-half hour or more destroys the poison and is therefore our best safeguard."

The two kinds of food poisoning just described should not be confused with intestinal upsets caused by eating unwholesome, too well, or when fatigued or overheated. "Some people are sensitive to certain kinds of foods which can never be eaten by them without causing illness. Sometimes persons outgrow this tendency. Proper treatment by physicians who have made a special study of such cases sometimes results in overcoming this trouble."

COOLIDGE BIDS NATION MOURN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 4.—Issuing his first proclamation as the thirtieth president of the United States, Calvin Coolidge announced today officially the death of his predecessor, Warren G. Harding. The proclamation called on the nation to mourn the memory of the lamented president on Friday, August 10, the day on which the funeral will be held at Marion, Ohio.

It was the first official act of the new president. It came within thirty-four hours after he took his oath of office as chief magistrate.

PHILIP ELTING'S NAME IS FORGED

Three Officials of Marine Relief Society Are Indicted by the Government on Charge of Defrauding American Steamship Companies of Huge Sums.

The New York Herald says: American steamship companies have been defrauded of huge sums through the forgery of signature of government officials, the Federal grand jury charged Friday in returning indictments against Samuel Solomon, Max Prushan and William Frederick Herman, secretary, treasurer and clerk of the Marine Relief Society, 57 Whitehall street. The defendants pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Louis Fitzhugh in Federal District Court and were released in bail.

The Marine Relief Society, through the indicted defendants, is alleged by Dubois Gillette and Charles J. Marrasco, assistant United States attorneys, to have forged the names of Philip Elting, Collector of the Port, and E. W. Voorhies, Federal Shipping Commissioner, to certificates of seamen's service, citizenship papers and documents purporting to confirm the discharge from foreign vessels of men to whom the papers were supplied. The organization collected dues of $5 a year from seamen, the indictment charges, and promised to supply members with jobs and provide boarding places for them.

Hundreds of deserters from foreign ships obtained places on American vessels through the Marine Relief Society's alleged forged papers, Mr. Gillette said. The organization thrived during the April strike of marine workers, when American steamship companies were begging for men. Solicitors for the society are alleged to have picked up hundreds of men who were not seamen and placed them on steamships with forged papers.

FRANCE WONDERS ABOUT COOLIDGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Aug. 4.—French political circles today anxiously sought "inside information" as to President Coolidge's attitude towards the reparations issue and other grave European problems involving France's destiny. Newspapers declared that the new American president is friendly and sympathetic towards France.

President Coolidge is admittedly an unknown quantity. He was never mentioned in connection with European affairs until his sudden elevation to the White House.

"Is President Coolidge sympathetic towards France or Great Britain in the present reparations difficulties?" was a question continually heard in political circles.

Members of the American colony were bombarded with questions regarding the new president. Fortunately Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador to America, is in Paris and is in a position to supply valuable information.

Premier Poincaré has diplomatically sounded out Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador. Newspapers stressed the fact that Mr. Coolidge is of New England ancestry. One newspaper carried the explanation:

New England is mistaken by many as indicating that Mr. Coolidge lived in an Anglophile atmosphere. But New England is only a part of the United States, a name.

"A friend of France" was the headline upon some of the editorials upon the great American tragedy.

"Like his predecessors, Mr. Coolidge will have at heart Franco-American friendship which was sealed upon the battlefield," said Figaro.

The Petit Journal said: "The new president is a friend of France. He has nothing in common with Germany."

HARDING FUNERAL AT FATHER'S HOME

In Marion Friday Morning At 10 O'clock—Civic Association Re-organized to Make Arrangements.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Marion, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Present plans for the funeral in Marion of the late President Harding provide for the holding of services Friday morning, August 10, at the home of Dr. George T. Harding, father of the dead president. When the funeral party reaches Marion Thursday morning, the body will be taken directly to the home of Dr. Harding. Details have not been arranged for the service.

Marion's Civic Association, which was organized during the campaign of 1920 and which was reorganized last night, will make all preliminary arrangements for the funeral. However, no definite announcements can be made until the body reaches Washington before its return to Marion.

Marion is now draped in the deepest mourning. All business activities will be suspended the day of the funeral. All proposed meetings have been called off.

It has not been decided whether the president's body will lie in state here, but the people of Marion and vicinity may be given the privilege of gazing for the last time on this city's beloved son at Trinity Baptist Church.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 4.—Influenced by the sudden death of President Harding, the stock market opened weak today. Losses ranged from a fraction to 3 points in the most active issues, transactions being well distributed throughout the list. Great Northern preferred dropped 2 1/2 points to 51 1/2, a new low. American Car and Foundry lost 3 points to 154, Pan American Petroleum 2 points to 57. U. S. Steel lost 1/2 to 86 1/2, American Locomotive 1 1/2 to 70 1/2, Baldwin Locomotive 1/2 to 112 and Lima Locomotive 1/2 to 59 1/2. Studebaker lost 1 point to 10 1/2 and Mack Truck 1 1/2 to 70 1/2. Corden Oil declined 1/2 to 32, California Petroleum 1/2 to 18 1/2, Royal Dutch 1 point to 40 1/2 and Producers and Refiners 1/2 to 29 1/2. Railroad stocks opened weak. Northern Pacific yielded 1 point to 56. New York Central 1/2 to 96 1/2 and Southern Railway 1/2 to 30 1/2. American Cane lost 1/2 to 57. American Woolen 1/2 to 82 1/2 and Cuban Cane Sugar preferred 1/2 to 34 1/2.

The market closed weak. Some short covering occurred in the final period, lifting prices here and there above the lows of the day, but losses from 1 to over 2 points were general at the close. The final break in the Northern rails furnished the real impetus to the downward trend.

Takes Time to Mature Genius.

Thomas Jefferson is quoted as defending the charge that America had not yet produced a single man of literary genius: "When we have existed so long as the Greeks did before they produced Homer, the Romans Virgil, the French a Racine and a Voltaire, the English a Shakespeare and a Milton, we shall inquire from what unfriendly causes it has proceeded that the other countries of Europe, and quarters of the earth, shall not have inscribed any poet of ours on the roll of fame."

COOLIDGE SILENT PENDING FUNERAL

In First Talk to Newspaper Men Reports That Harding Organization Will be Continued Indefinitely But Says Nothing Further.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 4.—The policies and administration organization of President Harding will be continued indefinitely, President Calvin Coolidge announced today at his first newspaper conference.

The president bluntly told newspapermen he would "give no further expression of policy" until after the interment of President Harding. He was averse even to discussing the details of his own official conduct until after the state funeral here Wednesday.

More than a hundred newspapermen filed into the presidential suite to hear his first official pronouncement from the lips of the new executive.

"I am glad to greet you," President Coolidge declared, shaking the hand of each correspondent. "May I assure you that the executive offices will at all times be open to the press, and that every possible co-operation will be afforded in the handling of the news of the government."

"This is your government," he charged the assembly. "You can exercise a great influence over it, and I know that the administration can rely upon you."

Forecasting the inevitable question would be said relative to the policy of the new administration and that the statement of yesterday pledging adherence to the principles of Warren G. Harding would stand for the present.

"Nothing will be said until after the interment of President Harding," he said.

The president was asked regarding probable changes in the personnel of the White House staff.

"George B. Christian, Jr., is the secretary to the president," General Sawyer is the presidential physician. Everything will stand until announcement to the contrary," was the answer.

The next question put to the new executive was relative to possible disruption of pending negotiations in Mexico City, Lausanne and elsewhere as a result of the untimely and unexpected death of President Harding.

"I know of no reason for the interruption of negotiations now pending in Mexico City or anywhere else," the president replied.

assembly of the official family," he added.

"You said there will be no announcement of the administration policies until after the funeral," he was asked. "Does that mean you will then simply summarize your views?"

"There is no interpretation necessary to be put on my statement," said Coolidge. "My statement stands just as I gave it."

"Will that apply to any question relative to an extra session of congress?"

"I think that question is answered by my statement."

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Sarah, widow of William J. Purvis, died at her home, 631 Abell street, Friday morning in the 75th year of her age. She was a lifelong resident of this city and a devout member of the Church of the Holy Spirit. She is survived by three sons, James, Richard and Thomas, all of this city. Funeral Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Montrose cemetery.

Edward Madden died Friday at his home in Brooklyn. He was well known in this city having been a frequent visitor here. He is survived by his wife, who before marriage was Ella Connors of Sawkill and one son John and two daughters, May and Ella. Funeral Monday afternoon, August 6, upon the arrival of the 2:15 West Shore train. Interment in St. Ann's Cemetery, Sawkill.

Daniel P. LeFevre of Jamaica, Long Island, born in Highland and for many years a resident of Kingston, died at Jamaica, July 29th. Funeral was strictly private. He was 57 years of age and had always been in good health until four days before his death. He will be remembered by many as an unusually fine vocalist, having sung in leading churches for about forty years. Up to the time of his death he had been singing for thirty years in the Trinity Chapel choir in New York. He leaves his wife, Alice Lee Bennett LeFevre; mother, Arminda S. LeFevre of Jamaica; brother J. Scott LeFevre of Syracuse; daughter, Mrs. Charles Dougherty of Jamaica; son H. Seward LeFevre of Jamaica; son William V. LeFevre of Richmond Hill; son M. W. LeFevre of Delmar, N. Y. His wife will reside with her son M. W. LeFevre at Delmar, N. Y.

The funeral of Joseph Höfner was held from his late home, No. 16 St. Mary's street, this morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. J. Ostermann. The services were very largely attended by his many relatives and friends and the floral tributes were very profuse and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him. At the conclusion of the Mass, John Raible sang, "Thy Way Not Mine, Oh Lord." The bearers were John Reis, E. Joseph Long, Joseph Bruck, Thomas Burke, Frank Gill and Paul Saks, members of St. Peter's Commandery, No. 317, Knights of St. John, where the deceased had long been a faithful member.

Father Ostermann accompanied the remains to the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery, where the committal services and interment took place.

George H. Scott died very suddenly at his home in Coxsackie on Thursday evening. He has been in feeble health for the last four years. Mr. Scott was born in 1842 and moved to Coxsackie when he was 12 years old with his foster parents, where he has since made his home. During the Civil War he served as a marine engineer on a government transport. He was the oldest and one of the most enthusiastic firemen in the state of New York. He became a member of the State Firemen's Association in the third year of its existence and was treasurer of the association for 18 years. He was founder of the Greene County Firemen's Association and later of the Tri-County Firemen's Association, comprising the counties of Greene, Columbia and Ulster, and was its first president. This organization later expended into what is now known as the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association. He was always active in the interests of the Republican party. Mr. Scott is survived by his three children, Chester, Bertha and Mrs. James Isles, all of Coxsackie. Funeral services were held on Friday with the Rev. E. N. Hubbard, pastor of the Coxsackie Methodist Church, in charge. The interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

For Community Interest.

It is hard for a man to take money from his friends for any service. This suggests how all men should be regarded.—Thoreau.

Governor Jonathan M. Davis.

Governor Jonathan M. Davis, of Kansas, who is being boomed for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1924, said in Chicago that while he was not actually a candidate he would not refuse the nomination if proffered to him and that his political future was in the hands of his friends.

Humility Shows Character.
I believe the first test of a truly great man is his humility. By humility I do not mean doubt of his own power, or hesitation in speaking his opinion, but a right understanding of the relation between what he can do and say, and the world's sayings and doings. All great men not only know their business, but usually know that they know it, and are not only right in their own opinions but they actually know they are right in them; only they do not think much of them at that account.—Boswell.

BORGMAN GETS BIG OFFER TO RETURN

Here to Play Basketball Next Season—Seven Hundred a Month and Percentage on Exhibition Games. The Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia, issue of Thursday, August 2, has the following to say of Benny Borgman, a former member of the Kingston basketball team and of the Colonials: "Many baseball fans in this city and Chester have admired Benny Borgman, clever Chester shortstop, whenever they have had the opportunity to see him in action. 'It is not generally known, however, that Borgman is the king pin of the Kingston 1923 world champion basketball team, of the New York state league, which defeated the Celtics in a five-game series last spring. 'He is an all around athlete, but especially good on the court, and his work at forward was a big factor in Kingston's victories. The appreciation of that team is best shown by a letter he received recently, offering him $700 per month and a percentage on all exhibition games to return next season. 'Borgman, in addition to holding down a job with Kingston, played with Paterson in the Metropolitan League, which team also defeated post season series."

COOLIDGE IN POLICE STRIKE

His Reply to Gompers Shows He Has No Patience With Those Who Disregard Law and Order.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Boston, Aug. 4.—Governor Coolidge on September 14, 1919, sent the following telegram in reply to the one received by him from Mr. Gompers during the police strike: "Mr. Samuel Gompers, President American Federation of Labor, New York City, N. Y."

"Replying to your telegram, I have already refused to remove the police commissioner of Boston. I did not appoint him. He can assume no position which the courts would uphold except what the people have by the authority of their law vested in him. He speaks only with their voice. The right of the police of Boston to affiliate has always been questioned, never granted, is now prohibited. The suggestion of President Wilson to Washington does not apply in Boston. There the police have remained on duty. Here the policemen's union left their duty, an action which President Wilson characterized as a crime against civilization. Your assertion that the commissioner was wrong cannot justify the wrong of leaving the city ungoverned. That furnished the opportunity, the criminal element furnished the action. There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime. You ask that the public safety again be placed in the hands of these same policemen while they continue in disobedience of the laws of Massachusetts and in their refusal to obey the orders of the police department. Nineteen men have been tried and removed. Others having abandoned their duty, their places have under the law, been declared vacant on the opinion of the attorney general. I can suggest no authority outside the courts to take further action. I wish to join and assist in taking a broad view of every situation. A grave responsibility rests on all of us. You can depend on me to support you in every legal action and sound policy. I am equally determined to defend the sovereignty of Massachusetts and to maintain the authority and jurisdiction over her public officers where it has been placed by the constitution and law of her people. (Signed) CALVIN COOLIDGE, Governor of Massachusetts."

AMERICANISM FIRST WITH COOLIDGE

Believes Germans Should Pay "Full Reparations"—All Americans Should Be Workers—The Home Is Foundation of Country's Greatness. (Copyright, 1923, by International News Service). By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Aug. 4.—A striking tone of sturdy Americanism runs through the career of Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth president of the United States, as revealed today in excerpts of his speeches gathered by International News Service, from the president's own "scrap book."

This "diary of clippings," covering the president's career while governor of Massachusetts and vice-president, showed he valued most highly those speeches sounding a clarion call of Americanism. The president's heritage of colonial privation, hardihood and courage gave him a constant note of optimism and belief in the invincibility of American institutions, as evidenced by the clippings.

Excerpts from the "scrap-book" are exclusively reproduced here. On foreign affairs, the "scrap-book" showed the exaction of "full reparations" from Germany, the protection of American institutions against the world and the promotion of world progress by international conferences.

On these subjects, the president's own clippings read: "I am a firm believer in the exaction of full reparations from Germany."

"Our American institutions must be supported by every person who wishes to benefit mankind."

"America holds the leadership of the world in sound finances, enlarged industry, peace and concord, and in the promotion of better understandings, not by force, but by conference and by justice tempered with mercy."

"The destiny and greatness of America lies around the hearthstone. If thrift and industry are taught there and the example of self sacrifice off appears, if honor abide there and high ideals, America will live in security, abundant prosperity and good government at home and in peace, respect and confidence abroad."

On domestic issues, the "scrap book" revealed the president as a firm believer in "less government in business" and a "living wage" for labor. He said:

"It is necessary always to give a great deal of thought to liberty. There is no substitute and nothing else is quite effective. Individual initiative in the long run is a finer reliance for our government than bureaucratic supervision."

"We demand that each of us shall do his work and do it with all his skill and might and energy. Then we can demand properly in return that the conditions under which the work is done shall be fair and decent with adequate reward for accomplishment."

"America is the land of work. Therein lies her glory."

The new president's deep reverence for religion is revealed in another clipping. He said:

"Civilization and freedom have come because they are an achievement and it is human to achieve. But the foundation of it all rests on religion. From that source alone can freedom come."

An appeal for "brotherly love among peoples" read:

"In the liquidation of hate and uncharitableness and in a resort to compassion and good will there lies the only hope for the improvement of our country."

The president is an ardent champion of established institutions. Regarding the constitution and Congress his clipping read:

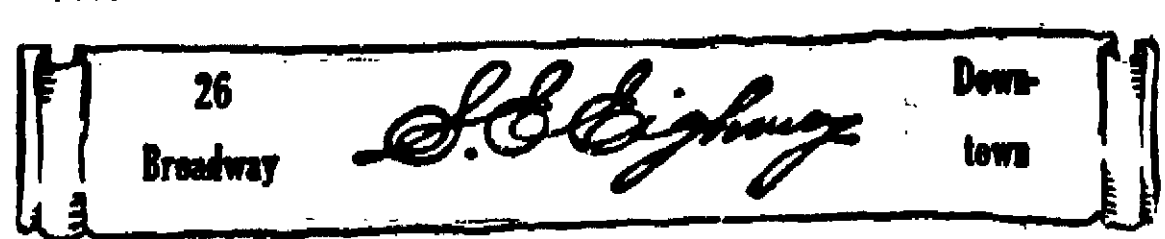

"We can neither enlarge nor diminish the constitution."

"The great object for us to seek here (in the senate) is to make this chamber as it was intended by the fathers, a citadel of liberty."
